- IREM – What’s in it for me? How can I get the most out of my membership?
- Talent Management/Development –We have more knowledge and tools than ever to effectively leverage human capital, our most important asset. We also have unprecedented challenges. This session discusses how to use technology, neuroscience, culture, and personal interaction to structure talent management/development programs that allow workers to grow and thrive in this environment, while enabling us to meet business goals.
- Forward Thinking Strategies - Constant flux in the work environment requires increased awareness of upcoming change and different strategies than what worked in the past. This session will discuss what we MUST be doing now to make sure we are prepared for continued success.
- Leadership – The more unpredictable the environment is, the greater the need for effective leadership skills. This session will discuss the top skills leaders need now to excel and how you can get them.
